Goopy Maple Custard Cake

This gorgeous cake is a little bit magic - a light sponge cake, filled with a gooey explosion of custard, and it all bakes in the one pan. A fun surprise next time friends are over for dinner!

Ingredients

Cake

- 3 large eggs
- 3 large egg yolks
- 2 tbsp (35g) caster sugar
- ¼ cup (60ml/80g) Queen Maple Syrup
- 1/3 cup (50g) plain flour
- ¼ cup (30g) chopped pecans

Chocolate Sauce

- 75g dark chocolate
- ¼ cup (60ml) cream
- ¼ cup (60ml/90g) Queen glucose syrup

Method - Cake

STEP 1

Preheat the oven to 180C (fan forced) and grease, flour and line one 18cm round springform tin.

STEP 2

Place the eggs, egg yolks and sugar into a stand mixer or large bowl and beat with an electric whisk (or the whisk attachment) until frothy.

STEP 3

Place the maple syrup into a small saucepan over a low heat and bring to a boil. When the syrup is boiling, begin whisking the eggs again on a high speed, and slowly and carefully stream in the syrup. Be careful to pour the syrup down the edge of the bowl so it doesn't splash.

STEP 4

Once the syrup is all in continue beating the mixture until it triples in volume and holds a ribbon on the surface for about 1 second.

Method - Cake

STEP 5

Sift over the flour, and add the pecans and fold these gently into the mixture, and then pour it into the lined tin.

STEP 6

Bake the cake for 12-15 minutes – it should be golden brown and risen to the top of the pan, but still very wobbly in the centre. Place the cake tin on a rack and leave to cool for at least 15 minutes.

Method - Chocolate Sauce

STEP 1

Meanwhile, make the sauce by melting the chocolate, cream and glucose together in a small saucepan over a low heat.

STEP 2

To serve, zig zag the sauce over the top of the cake, and then carefully slice it into gooey wedges with a clean, sharp knife.
